EUROPE FACES GRAVE CRISIS AS ALLIED PARLEY BEGINS

In Great Britain for the modification of the terms of the treaty so far as such modifications do not deprive the British of anything gained in the war. All these modifications are in the interests of a restoration of German economic prosperity.

HOPE FOR NO INDEMNITY

Italy has not the smallest interest in enforcing the terms of the treaty of Versailles, because she can hope for no indemnity from Germany. She has no common frontier with Germany and therefore no common interest in the restoration of the German economy.

The United States has no concern whatever of a material sort in the terms of the treaty of Versailles. Aside from the German shipping and property which we have seized, we have no territorial demands, the elimination of which would be a German recognition of the German army.

France and Belgium on the other hand, and the cause is true of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, are all concerned from the point of view of security, in seeing the conditions of the treaty of Versailles which direct the disarmament of Germany enforced. France and Belgium are necessarily determined to preserve from German invasion the neutralized district along the Rhine which is for them a guarantee of safety.

AMERICANIZE, D. A. R. URGES

Washington, D. C., April 26.—Daughters of the American Revolution, opening the twenty-fifth annual continental congress yesterday, urged to put forth greater effort than ever to spread Americanization among foreigners coming to America.

Mrs. George Thatcher Osterman, of Kansas, retiring president, addressed foreigners who accept American advantages without living up to American ideals, and called on the daughters to help arouse a national spirit.

Secretary Coffey, in an address, said there was a limit to which a nation might assimilate immigration. He urged that the organization "carry to the stream of entering aliens the traditions of America."

Then, speaking in response to an introduction to the daughters, warmly expressed their determination "to Americanize those aliens who have remained aloof from our institutions."
